Georgetown Vanquishes V. P. I .--- Pennsy Just Beats Cornell

Georgetown Too Much For Game V. P. I. Team

Though Fighting to the Last, Blacksburg Cadets Yield to Local Eleven and Lose 24 to 3. Costello and Legge Star.

It's all over now. Georgetown has waged her last battle of the 2912 season. The strenuous routine of daily practice, the supreme effort in contest, and the struggle for glory throughout the past three months are all a matter of history. But the noble efforts and the perseverance of the Blue and Gray have overcome every obstacle which beset her paths this year, and Potomac's lovely daughter is, for the third successive season, on the highest pinnacle of South-Atlantic football fame, crowned with the laurels of victory and emblazoned with the splendor of superiority over the field of other aspirants who bowed to her prowess. The palm is Georgetown's without disputethe title of South Atlantic champion is hers by virtue of achievement.

But once has the Blue and Gray fallen this season to a superior eleven, and then to a football machine of national recognition, the Carlisle Indians. Her other adversaries were all contenders for the coveted title of this section. Virginia Polytechnic Institute, from Blacksburg, Va., was the latest invader, but courageous as was the fight which the wonderful little Southern team offered, it too fell before

It was only too evident that Georgetown was the best team from the start, and in but one period, the first, did the visitors keep their goal line uncrossed.

Three touchdowns, each supplemented by the additional point, and a customary field goal by "Nine Point Harry" Costello accounted for Georgetown's total

CORNELL PUTS UP GALLANT BATTLE, BUT LOSES, 7 TO 2

Pennsy Wins Annual Football Con test When Mercer Recovers Fumbled Ball.

ITHACANS SCORE A SAFETY

Philadelphia. Nov. 22—In spite of a game fight, Cornell lost to the University of Pennsylvania this afternoon by the score of 7 to 2. A gridleron wat by a melting snow, which fell all morning, was cosponable for a great deal of fumbling and probably for the fact that all of the points scored were due to mis-takes by both sides. Cornell was the first better to score, getting two pints on a safety by Minds. This two pints on a safety by Minds. This two pints on a safety by Minds. This blocked Minds punt, then forced the Pennsylvania man over the fine for the safety.

Pennsylvania man over the line for the Pennsylvania man over the line for the Pennsylvania scored the touchdown which won the gaine toward the close of the second period. An unlikely fundable by the line of the score, the second pennsylvania selected Quaker captain, scooped up the ball on his own 6-yard line and was off like a fissh for the Cornell goal. Butter was the only man in a position to give chase, but Jourdet and Harrington put him out of the play, and the touchdown was then an easy matter. Cornell had quite as gnod an offense as Pennsylvania, and was just as strong on the defense. The Ithacans when they had the wind back of them played a Ricking same in the looper had Marshall and Blos, would drip the ball, but this Marshall devilined to do, missing but a single punt all afternoon.

Cornell, its spite of playing a defensive, game most of the afternoon, carried the ball a total of 108 yards from scrimage to its yards for Pennsylvania. The Ithacans made one serious mistake in Judament, though it it had succeeded.
